SUN straw-poll shows Georgetown warm on Carter's energy scheme

What do Georgetown residents think of the President's energy policy plan, recently unveiled to the nation and now under Congressional scrutiny?

The majority of respondents to a straw poll conducted by The SUN indicate they believe there is an energy crisis and would voluntarily cooperate with Jimmy Carter's proposed measures for coping with that crisis. But nearly half don't like the proposals and expect to suffer financial burdens if they become law.

FOR THE POLL, we posed six questions concerning the proposed policy. The results of the 37 completed questionnaires returned to us by randomly-selected participants were as follows:

Question	Response
1. Are you generally in favor of the President's energy plan?	26 10
2. Do you believe there is a genuine energy emergency?	30 7
3. Would you cooperate voluntarily with most of the proposed program?	35 2
4. Will your next car be a smaller, more efficient one?	32 4
5. Would you insulate your home or business additionally?	27 8
6. Would you be hurt financially by the program?	16 15

We also asked for supplementary comments about the plan. The 20 sets we got included some interesting observations and opinions not only about the plan, but about the energy supply situation in this country. Here is a sampling:

(In response to question 3.) "I already own such a car and have for four years. I believe any other type of car should not be taxed, but prohibited by law. (The same respondent replies to question 6.) 'Relative to what? The problem with this question is that everyone will be hurt financially in the future compared to now, regardless of what develops in the way of an energy program. (But) to do nothing or fail to adopt a policy which will encourage conservation will inevitably lead to financial catastrophe for everyone.'

"In my opinion, our government is not using our bargaining power correctly with OPEC. (The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the Arabian oil cartel.) Our strength is in our goods and services, which we could withhold until the price of a barrel of crude oil comes around."

"The idea of taxing oil and returning the money to the taxpayers seems ridiculous —

we all know what happens to money when you funnel it through the bureaucracy! Be rational; let the marketplace, not the government, govern our conservation."

(In response to questions 4 and 5.) "I don't own either. If I did, I would have already moved down to a smaller car as a result of the gas shortage two years ago!"

"Probably I would not be hurt financially by the program at its inception, but as a consumer, of course I would eventually be

Woman fights off attackers, is found later unconscious

An Austin woman was listed in satisfactory condition Friday evening in the intensive care unit of the Georgetown hospital after a possible suicide attempt Wednesday night. The possible suicide attempt came just three days after she had reported to police successfully fighting off two men who had attempted to rape her near Georgetown on the North San Gabriel River.

Lynn Beck, 20, of Austin was discovered Wednesday at 7:52 p.m. passed out behind the wheel of her yellow Toyota on Andice Road about 30 minutes after threatening to "end it all" while talking over the phone to Sheriff's dispatcher Randy Neville.

Beck had been to the Georgetown's Police Department late last Sunday night, saying that she had successfully defended herself against two men who had tried to rape her at the 2nd Booty's Road on the North San Gabriel, about 4 miles northwest of Georgetown earlier that night.

BECK SAID that she was parked at the end of the road at the 2nd Booty's crossover last Sunday night when two Latin males came out of the bushes speaking Spanish.

She reported that one of the men, whom she described as "the fat one," pulled her off the car by the leg and then both of them jumped on her.

She told Georgetown Police that the two men tried to pull her pants off.

She said that she managed successfully to defend herself by kicking "the thin one," who had a switchblade in the groin several

Westside schedules open house

All voters in the Georgetown Independent School District are invited to have coffee at Westside Intermediate School on Wednesday, May 18, between 10 a.m. and noon.

Parents will be on hand to serve coffee and take interested persons on tours of the school facilities to show them the areas in which the building is believed to be deficient.

Visitors are welcome to visit the school at any time, however they are encouraged to come on Wednesday when persons will be available to show them around and answer questions.

WESTSIDE SCHOOL CIRCUS — Thursday morning and again in the afternoon Westside Intermediate School was the scene of an uproarious circus staged by the students. Acts ranged from puppet shows, acrobatic acts, lion tamers and yo-yo juggling to musical performances. In a "take me out to the ball game" skit the Sun photographer caught these youngsters hammering it up with their home plate antics. (see related photos page 4).

Centennial SUN to cost 60¢ next week

Spray 'em!

It's time to spray your pecan trees. The County Extension Office announced Friday that the pecan nut casebearer has begun laying its eggs this week. Spraying should begin as soon as the eggs start to hatch.

Some spraying already began Thursday and Friday in Williamson County. If you have not observed any eggs hatching by Monday, May 16, you should go ahead and spray as they probably hatched unnoticed.

School officials hoping proposition 2 will pass

by DAMOND BENNINGFIELD

SUN staff writer

After several years of discussion and at least one deal that fell through, Georgetown High School could get a new all-weather track by next season.

District voters will decide the issue in next Saturday's $1,885,000 bond election. Proposition 2 on the ballot would approve the sale of $85,000 in bonds for the construction of a track.

Proposition 1 concerns $1.8 million for construction and renovation at three Georgetown school campuses.

GEORGETOWN SCHOOL SUPT. Jack Frost said Wednesday that the possibility of a track for the new high school has been discussed since the school was built in 1975. A potential agreement with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to construct the track last fall fell through, he added.

The new facility would be an all-weather Resolite surface with eight lanes, jumping pits and porta-pits for pole vaulting and the high jump.

The 28-foot wide track, which Frost said would probably be located at the new high school, would replace a makeshift facility made in a clearing east of the school.

The current track, however, with tall weeds encroaching upon the lanes and rocks obstructing runners' paths, has caused problems for the boys' and girls' track teams this year, athletic officials say.

TRACK COACH David Greeno, whose team finished near the bottom at the district meet this year at Round Rock, said hurdler-sprinter Jimmy Jacobs, one of the team's top athletes, was lost for the district meet because of the track.

Jacobs was practicing his hurdling when he came down on a rock in the middle of the track and cracked a bone in his foot.

Athletic Trainer Glenn Stroech, who treats injuries to all high school athletes, said the track has caused other health problems this season.

He said the girl's team was suffering an unusually high number of shin splints — pulling a muscle from the shin bone — early in the season, mostly because of the hard track surface.

"I WOULDN'T SAY it's dangerous," he said of the present dirt facility, "but a lot of times when you're running, you can't see things like a hole or a rock in front of you. With a good track, you know exactly what's there."

Georgetown Athletic Director Les Johnson said a track is needed not only to insure the track teams will be competitive, but to help in all sports.

"To have a complete athletic program, you have to have a track program," he said. "To be able to compete with Belton and Taylor, you have to have a place to teach kids how to run. And, of course, you've got to have speed."

Greeno said the current track is also hard on equipment. The team ordered 200 long spikes for practice running at the start of the season, usually enough for about two years, according to Greeno, but now only "old, bent-up" spikes are left. New ones will have to be ordered for next season.

SHOES, TOO, have been hurt by use of the old track.

"We've gone through twice as many shoes as we normally would," Greeno explained. "Say a hurdler comes along, and when he jumps a hurdle, he comes down with the side of his shoe on a rock. That tears up the shoe. Next year we are going to have to buy a lot of extra new shoes."

Johnson also pointed out that a new track could be used for other things besides the athletic teams.

"We could have track meets here, which brings people into the community. It brings in business and lets people see what you have to offer," he said. He also said the facility could be used for the physical education program, for intramural track meets, for a possible "Little Olympics" for

Paul Harvey

The late J. Edgar Hoover once stirred up a hornet's nest of righteous wrath when he said, "Any youngster old enough to commit a man's crime is old enough to take a man's punishment."

WE WERE NOT READY to accept that.

To this day, policemen are reluctant to shoot at a fleeing fugitive for fear he might turn out to be "a mere youngster."

But youngsters are nowhere near as "mere" as they used to be.

New York sought to dry up hard drug traffic with a new law—stiffer penalties for adult pushers.

So now the adult pushers are using children to do their dirty work.

A boy arrested on a Harlem street—in possession of $94,000 worth of heroin—was 11. So the criminal court had to send him home to his mother.

What do we do to punish juveniles who are less juvenile than heretofore?

A NEW YORK GUN CLUB is offering a $200 reward for crime victims who shoot and kill robbers; says it's time for the "good guys" to defend themselves.

But you know society is not going to sit still for such bounty hunting when the robber is a young boy—or girl.

Last year of record 43 percent of all suspects arrested were under 18.

New Orleans' suspected French Quarter stabber—believed responsible for four slayings—is 16!

The easy out these days is for parents to blame "the sitter"—and the No. 1 "sitter" is television.

Nielsen says children under 5 watch television an average of 23½ hours a week—multiplied by 17 years that's 20,000 hours. TV gets more time than any other human activity except sleep.

Without doubt, it is a potent influence.

MOST PSYCHOLOGISTS CONCEDE that viewing violence produces aggressive human behavior.

But while television seeks to moderate this negative influence, and while the government allocates $3.2 million to employ students to police schoolhouse crime, and while New Yorkers are invited to become bounty hunters, a federal prosecutor in Philadelphia is getting no public response to his remedial suggestion.

U. S. Attorney David Marston says there is already a law which would deter juvenile crime if we would enforce it.

IT IS PART OF A CHILD slavery law which has been on the books for a hundred years.

It was used in the 1800s to put a stop to child beggars in New York.

It is a law which says that, when an underage child commits any crime, his parents face trial. It is they who must pay any fine. It is they who would go to jail.

Off with old smokey

Texas has a new law on how to do a criminal in. Instead of shocking him to death in Old Smokey, the new law says to give him a painless, lethal dose of poison.

THE ACTION CAME promptly after some fool judge ruled that electrocutions could be carried out with the public viewing them on television. Lawmaker Ben Z. Grant of Marshall introduced the measure. "I decided there must be a better way than permitting the execution to be shown in your living room," he explained.

Texas is the second state to permit executions by poison, which will be administered with a needle. Oklahoma is the first to adopt this method.

EXECUTION IN ANY FORM is a grim and awful business. It's simply too bad that our society produces criminals who, by their terrible acts of violence, earn the death sentence. Nevertheless, such is a fact and we see the use of painless poison, administered without dramatics, as being considerably more humane and representative of what the general public wants than any of the methods that have been used in our country, or any country for that matter.

Very few people want vengeance. Nearly all of us want merciless killers kept off the streets.

Legalizing laetrile

Our state legislators appear on the verge of passing the laetrile bill to make the stuff legal.

MANY UNSCIENTIFIC people, including some who have taken laetrile, believe it keeps them from dying of cancer. The scientific people oppose this idea, maintaining that it is useless and, because cancer-stricken people may turn to it for a cure rather than to conventional measures, could do a lot of harm.

We have a tendency to go with the scientific people.

Laetrile might be something we would want to try but not to rely on.

We all wish the Executive Board the best of luck in the coming year.

Alpha Iota Tau of Round Rock served delicious refreshments and the meeting was adjourned.

Apprenticeship on the rise

By Guy Halverson

Washington
When A. J. Krebs, of Rapid City, South Dakota, talks about saws and planes, chisels, hammers, and adzes, he speaks with authority.

Mr. Krebs is a carpenter, like his father and grandfather—in a long line of carpenters believed to stretch into the family's past in Germany, before their immigration to the United States in the 19th century.

Significantly, the Krebses learned their carpentry through the apprenticeship method, either directly from their relatives, or in the case of Mr. Krebs's own sons, through formal high school programs.

Apprenticeship, the predominant method for training young people in the dust-and-soot days of the industrial revolution, is again winning wide popularity as thousands of young people become interested in such trade or craft professions as bricklaying, shoe repair, electrical work, carpentry, and tool-and-die work.

Although thousands of persons have taken part in "on the job" training programs as well as formal apprentice programs over past decades, national record keeping is relatively recent.

According to U. S. Labor Department studies, by the end of 1975 (the last year for which complete figures are available) 266,000 persons were formally enrolled in apprenticeship programs in the U. S. That is up from 57,000 in 1945 and 131,000 in 1946, when veterans returning from World War II enrolled in training programs linked to the GI Bill.

In fact, some 29 states and two territories, along with the District of Columbia, now have comprehensive apprenticeship programs. Meanwhile, the federal Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training (a Labor Department agency) has a staff of 495 persons operating on a $13 million budget with field offices scattered throughout the U. S.

Given zealous support from new Labor Secretary F. Ray Marshall, a nationally recognized scholar on apprenticeship, the federal agency is actively stepping up efforts to promote such programs.

According to Nick Kolb, a top official with Labor's apprentice program, the "renewed interest" in apprenticeship stems in part from a feeling that a "skills" background, as opposed to more "generalist" liberal arts training, is the best step toward job security in the increasingly technological 1970s.

Nowhere is this perhaps better illustrated than among families of apprenticeship individuals, like the Krebses. According to Labor Department estimates, 18.5 percent of all people in apprentice programs are studying in the same field their parents work in.

Mr. Krebs, for example, can recall learning carpentry directly from his father. His own son Joe, who spent many hours watching his father work, took up a training program at Stevens High School, in Rapid City, and went on to win a silver medal in a 1974 carpentry contest. Now a younger son is also learning carpentry.

Whether his sons actually follow carpentry, Mr. Krebs argues that the training is invaluable for a young person. "There's a great feeling of satisfaction in seeing the results of your work right in front of you," he says.

According to an official of the California Division of Apprentice Standards, more and more young women are joining apprentice programs. Two years ago, he recalls, state officials talked about having at least 300 women in the program (out of some 20,000 students). Now the number of women, the official notes, is almost 550, and "growing daily."

Federal and state officials say that they are particularly proud of rising pay scales for apprentices. Whereas the 19th-century apprentice was often pictured in such books as Dickens's "Oliver Twist" as raggedly attired, physically abused, and niggardly paid, today's apprentice often earns as much as 50 percent of journeyman pay rates in the first year of the training program, reaching 90 to 95 percent in the fourth year.

Most programs run four years. Meanwhile, the Labor Department, with a special $8 million funding (above the regular apprenticeship budget), is seeking to upgrade federal and state "partnerships" in apprentice programs.

Too much fertilizer?

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — In half a month or so, the 65th Session of the Texas Legislature will adjourn "sine die," passing into the history books, and the statute books.

This end-game of the legislative chess match is the most crucial—and the most dangerous—time for the lawmakers, and for the folks they represent.

AS THE DAYS KEEP DWINDLING DOWN, so do the chances for passage of any major piece of legislation which has any controversy about it—if it hasn't already passed either the House or the Senate.

Early in the session, Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby expressed hopes that the last-minute log-jam of past sessions wouldn't be repeated this time.

Prefiling of bills, it was hoped, would allow members to have some of their proposals ready for committee action early—so those bills could be moved through early and the clogging of the calendar late in the session avoided.

However, many members were reluctant to lay out their bills too early, and thus allow opponents additional time to take pot shots at them.

Some of the bills that were prefiled did get heard early—and were passed. Others still languish in subcommittees—where they appear destined to remain.

But the main effect of prefiling seems to have been only to make a little more room for other bills to move into the funneling process, with the same crowding onto calendars on both sides of the rotunda that has been a feature of sessions past.

Some House committees have been voting bills out in wholesale lots, to "give the author a run" with his or her proposals.

And both House and Senate are filling their local and uncontested calendars with bills.

THERE'S WHERE THE DANGER LIES, as the legislators themselves will readily admit.

Enough members are veterans of the Sharpstown Bank fiasco to recall what can happen with a seemingly harmless bill sails through on a local and uncontested calendar—and then turns out not to have been so innocuous as it appeared.

Probably that event will remain for years in the acrid memory of legislators, and reporters.

So many of the bills which were filed in their blue or brown covers will end up as scratch paper come June 1.

Critics will say that's the best thing that could be hoped for.

"I'M NOT HERE TO TRY to pass any good legislation," one lobbyist confided. "I'm here to try to stop some of those bad old bills."

Or, as one committee chairman rather wearily said, "This bill... has no one for it; it has no one against it.

It's totally unnecessary, so let's go ahead and report it out."

That's probably the greatest problem with the legislative system—the fact that most members feel compelled to offer some bill, to do something, in order to avoid the risk of being labelled as inactive or unconcerned.

Which is not to say that there aren't changes which need to be made in Texas statutes.

In fact, a general overhauling would seem in order—and brings to mind the suggestion made by one member that no legislator should be allowed to pass a law unless he repeals a law, to keep the statute books from being cluttered with duplicate statutes.

This session also has been marked by a feeling among observers that no one really has any bright new solutions that will clear away the old tarnished problems—such as school finance, teacher pay raises, increasing costs of government, and the problem of an almost infinite number of worthy programs needing State support—but for which funds are definitely finite.

The 65th Session inherited many of those problems from the 64th Session; it will bequeath many of them to the 66th Session.

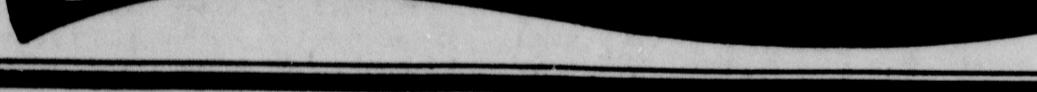

THAT IS BECAUSE PROBLEMS such as school finance aren't capable of simple solutions. If they were, they wouldn't be problems to begin with.

What this session has done so far is to patch up the machinery, oil it a bit, and promise to get around to overhauling completely later.

More than that probably isn't possible.

What everyone hopes now is that someone won't, at the last minute, throw a monkey wrench in the gears.

STATE capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Texas has a brand new world filibuster champ—Sen Bill Meier of Euseles.

Meier, 36, with 43 hours of (nearly) continuous oratory, broke the old record set in 1972 by former Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas.

A scholarly Fort Worth area lawyer, Meier is a sharp contrast to McKool. He stands six feet two inches tall and weighs in at 190. McKool is five feet three, and was 53 at the time he set his 42 hours, 33 minutes filibuster record.

Meier's strenuous verbal attack was leveled against a section of a workers' compensation law revision bill which closed job injury records of the state Industrial Accident Board to firms which copy and sell the data to employers.

"This is nothing more than the first chink in the Open Records Act," said Meier. "What do you say to other agencies which demand similar exemptions?"

Although unsuccessful in stopping or altering the bill he opposed, Meier said he thinks his filibuster served a purpose.

"You can talk to the House through a filibuster—and to the people of the state," said Meier. "I hope the bill doesn't go through the House with the same meteoric speed it went through the Senate."

Assuming signature by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the bill (HB 945) by Rep. Ben Z. Grant of Marshall would go into effect 90 days after the session closes May 30.

The legislation changes the method of execution in Texas for the first time in more than half a century.

Tax Reform Dead?

A far-reaching property tax reform bill passed by the House appears doomed sections would save employers $35 million in insurance premiums.

Hearing was delayed until late this week, and the sponsor Rep. Wayne Peveto, irate over continued opposition of some senators, threatened to force their bills off the House local calendar in retaliation.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells said he would make no effort to move the measure out of his Senate committee until sponsors can show him 21 votes to pass it on the floor.

AG Opinions

Legislators are prevented from representing prison inmates for a fee in private interviews with the Board of Pardons and Paroles, Atty. Gen. John Hill stated.

Hill said the board can forbid lawmakers from representing the inmates for pay in proceedings which are either non-adversary or non-public.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

The legislature is free to change the name of the Texas Railroad Commission to the Energy and Transportation Commission.

The family code requires the reporting of sexual abuse, failure to provide adequate food, clothing and shelter, and any conduct sufficient for termination of a parent-child relationship.

Courts Speak

In spite of soaring gas rate increases since 1973, the Texas Supreme Court held Lo-Vaca Gathering Company and Coastal States Gas Producing Company don't owe Lower Colorado River Authority any damage awards.

An Amarillo policeman was upheld by the Supreme Court in an appeal from a discharge order by his chief for testifying that a convicted robber had a good reputation for telling the truth.

The high court upheld a New York Life Insurance Company decision not to pay off on a policy covering a 22-year-old Texan who died in 1975.

School board may increase vocational class space

Because of overcrowding in the Liberty Hill School District's vocational classes, the school board voted Monday night to have Superintendent James Perry check into the costs of either building a new vocational facility or relocating some of the classes in other present facilities.

Tentative figures discussed by the board were a cost of $12 to $18 per square foot to build a new portable vocational class building and $6 per square foot to remodel the old vocational building.

Perry said he will investigate both and report back to the board at the next meeting.

The board also approved five changes in school policy. They were:

- Changing the board meeting schedule. They will now meet on the second Monday of each month instead of the first Monday of each month.

- Adopting a policy change that would eliminate discrimination in extra class activities. The board adopted a policy that would allow students to participate

Garden Club installs officers

On May 5, 1977, the Georgetown Garden Club had its spring installation meeting at the home of outgoing president, Mrs. Burl Brooks. A covered dish luncheon preceded the installation ceremony.

New Garden Club officers are, president, Mrs. Tom Pickard; first vice-president and co-chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Leroy Peterson and Mrs. Jim Adkins; second vice-president and chairman of the flower show, Mrs. D. E. Armstrong; third vice-president and civic and garden chairman, Mrs. Robert Southworth; fourth vice-president and yearbook chairman, Mrs. L. A. Dedear; fifth vice-president and membership chairman, Mrs. Donald Collier; treasurer, Mrs. Alton Carter; recording secretary, Mrs. Jim Conomos; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. L. Tonn and parliamentarian, Mrs. Jim Adkins.

Mrs. F. W. Buchanan performed the installation service in a simple, direct and most effective way.

The short business meeting was highlighted by issuing the new cookbooks to members, who will be considered in extra class activities regardless of race, sex or national origin and would allow married and/or pregnant students to participate. Two board members, J. W. Hicks Jr. and Robert Moore, voted against the change.

• Any staff member that is suspended will be sent a letter by certified mail giving the reasons for the suspension. Perry said that the policy would put the district in a better position if a court case resulted from the suspension of a staff member.

- If the board terminates a teacher's contract, the teacher has a right to a hearing before the board if it is requested within five days after notification of the termination.

- Students facing expulsion from the school system are also allowed a hearing before the board.

THE BOARD ALSO upped tuition for two summer school classes from a proposed $25 per course to $40 per course. The summer school program will include an English course and a math course. They will be taught for 20 days during the summer for two hours each.

said Perry. The increased rate would pay the costs of operating the building for the classes. The board did agree that if a student could not afford the higher rate the superintendent would be allowed to set the tuition at his discretion.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board delayed action on paving the high school parking lot and ordered textbooks for the 1977-78 school year.

Circus

Day

LOOK A CIRCUS!!!—Westside Intermediate School students put on a circus on Thursday, complete with lion tamer, acrobat, puppet show, clowns, yo-yo juggling, roller skaters, magicians, singers, dancers and a host of other entertainment. The youngsters went through their hilarious acts before a capacity crowd in the Westside gym and they received much applause and laughter for their efforts. Everyone loves a circus it seems.

Still a good buy... all over the house.

But, conserve electricity and save money.

Forty or fifty years ago, the electric bill was most often referred to as "the light bill." In thousands of homes, Mr. Edison's illuminating invention was not the only electrically operated device in use, but people associated its benefits with their costs for electricity.

Today, higher costs for electricity seem to overshadow the many benefits of electricity. The majority of American homes now have at least 14 different electric appliances, in addition to lighting: radio, television, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, clothes washer, iron, toaster, coffeemaker, mixer, range, frypan, bed coverings, can opener and some type of air conditioner.

Whether you have 14 or 40 electric appliances, we believe that if you will compare their benefits with your costs of operating them, you'll agree that electricity is still a good buy... all over the house.

Women's Club to purchase park benches

San Gabriel Women's Club met on May 12 in the home of Betty Thomas for its business meeting.

Pat Giddings announced that the benefit featuring Shelby Hearon was a success, and the group will be able to proceed with their project of placing benches in the park near the bandstand. These benches are custom-made for the San Gabriel Women's Club by Elgin Iron Works and are replicas of the Hyde Park benches in Austin. This will be a continuing project for the group.

Clare Mashburn spoke to the club about the approaching school bond election, urging everyone to vote and explaining more fully the needs of the school system in Georgetown.

Light desserts were served to the women by Mrs. Thomas, Jackie Richardson and Carolyn Purdue. The next meeting will be in the fall.

Heritage Society to have program on revitalization

Georgetown is great but it can be greater.

People who are interested in finding out how the city can be greater may attend the meeting of the Georgetown Heritage Society on Thursday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Eanes-Ames house, 1004 Church St. (directly behind the First Baptist Church).

GUEST SPEAKERS for the meeting will be Mary Lou Watkins and former Mayor Hugh Raupe of Granbury, both of whom were influential in the Granbury "renaissance" that went into the town's revitalization.

RE-DEVELOPMENT of Georgetown can come when an alliance of enthusiastic citizens brings a new vitality to the streets of downtown Georgetown. Dreamers can envision the changes that can come about, but "doers" can see the realization of those dreams for a better Georgetown.

When a group of citizens of Granbury set out to restore the Town Square, some people said that "nobody really cared that much." But they did, says Ms. Watkins, for, since 1970, nine buildings have been refurbished and 15 other structures have been, or are in the process of being, rehabilitated.

Commercial opportunity can be combined with a respect for community heritage. The idea of the "town square revitalization" in Granbury has many elements in common with successful redevelopments of this type across the country. Georgetown could be included in that list, and the economic possibilities of restoration efforts are limitless.

The Thursday meeting gives the people of Georgetown an opportunity to set the course for restoration, revitalization and renaissance by taking a good look at what's here and the possibilities for the future of this historic area.

The success of any downtown or neighborhood revitalization project must depend ultimately upon the enthusiastic commitment of all segments of the community.

Greater numbers of people must be involved if there is to be a greater Georgetown. A spirit of cooperative enterprise is needed for preservation efforts.

Leander

Elementary enrollment up 104 over last year

Leander school district elementary enrollment jumped to 1,125 this May, up from 1,021 just last year. School Superintendent Joe Ward reported the increase to the school board Tuesday night, adding that the secondary enrollment has remained fairly stable.

The board approved plans for the district's Building and Trades Program to return to the practice of purchasing a lot, building a home on it and then selling it.

The building class had tried contracting to build a home, but it did not work out as well, said Ward. Buying the lot gives the teacher and students complete control, while working with a contract imposes limitations. The Leander district is considering increasing the number of credits required for graduation from 20 to 22. The school board will get the results of a study on graduation standards in July.

The board will also consider changing the requirements for passing a course and revising the policy for placing students at different levels of difficulty in basic courses, such as math and English.

WARD ALSO reported that two seniors have been suspended for 5 to 10 days for painting obscene words on a high school wall.

The students will be required to help clean up the wall and apologize to the students, but they will be allowed to graduate with their class.

After waiting for a court order, the school board finally got a look at the Volente referendum vote which was mistakenly not counted in April. As it turned out, Volente voters stood alone in rejecting the junior high referendum, 74-43, making the final vote 526 for and 444 against.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board accepted the resignations of high school girl's coach Tanya Toles, junior high coach Judy Phillips, math teacher Jack Livingston and drafting teacher Malcolm Goddin.

The district also made plans to upgrade its summer maintenance program. Ward said that the exteriors of both Leander Elementary and the north campus will be completely painted this summer.

Red Alert Probes Computer Control

Man controls his environment down to its smallest divisible particle, the atom. Or does he?

In "Red Alert," an accident at a nuclear power plant causes a computer to erroneously detect escaped radiation and to seal off the building, trapping 14 technicians inside. The computer in question is the giant Proteus computer which, in this fictionalized account, monitors a nationwide complex of 64 nuclear plants.

Frank Broden, an investigator for the Department of Nuclear Energy, immediately begins an on-site probe, but his superior in Colorado, Henry Stone, refuses to countermand the computer-ordered shutdown.

Meanwhile, Proteus has calculated three possible causes of the accident: human error, defective equipment, or sabotage. As Broden's investigation continues, it begins to look like sabotage, but soon the more fundamental question is raised: who controls this nuclear complex, man or computer?

To give authenticity to the backgrounds, producer Barry Goldberg and director William Hale made arrangements to shoot the film in NASA's Mission Control Center. The sophisticated communications computer, and data-display equipment at the center give Proteus a visual impact it would not have been possible to achieve on a Hollywood sound stage.

Also used as a set is the NASA Space Environment Simulation Laboratory. The space chamber stands an imposing 120 feet high, and sports a 40-foot high, 40,000 pound door. The chamber, used to test space flight equipment, is so imposing that the "Red Alert" crew members named it "King Kong."

"Red Alert" stars William Devane, Ralph Waite, Michael Brandon and Adrienne Barbeau.

William Devane, who plays Broden, has twice been nominated for an Emmy award: for his portrayals of John F. Kennedy in "The Missiles of October" and John Henry Faulk in "Fear On Trial."

Ralph Waite, playing Henry Stone, is known to millions as the father on "The Waltons," and has recently been seen in "Roots."

Michael Brandon has numerous credits, ranging from "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom" and "Lovers and Other Strangers" to "The Red Badge of Courage."

Adrienne Barbeau, known to television audiences as Maude's daughter, Carol, was a Tony nominee for her work in the Broadway musical, "Grease."

Comedy's the word in new ABC line-up

The execs at ABC are certainly feeling their oats these days. The remains of this past season are still warm and already the No. 1 network (will they ever let us forget) has announced next year's schedule. In the TV industry that's confidence.

Comedy seems to be the key word for the new line-up, as such cop shows as The Streets of San Francisco, Dog and Cat and Most Wanted hit the concrete, along with The Bionic Woman, Blansky's Beauties and The Tony Randall Show.

The six new series set for fall are all comedies, although some are promised to be more adult than others. We can only hope. The following are the plots and casts released by the network.

The San Pedro Bums (8 p.m., Mondays) An hour-long comedy about a gang of five exuberant young men whose dreams and ambitions are always in conflict with reality. Starring are newcomers Christopher Murney, Jeffry Druce, John Mark Robinson, Stuart Pankin and Darryl McCullough.

Soap (9:30 p.m., Tuesdays) An outrageous, character comedy soap opera, serializing the exploits of two unusual families. Never has there been a TV program like this one.

Carter Country (working title) (9:30 p.m., Thursdays) A half-hour comedy set in a small town in Georgia. A black New York City cop who plays by the book comes to town to work with a seat-of-the-pants chief. Kene Holiday and Victor French star.

The Redd Foxx Show (10 p.m., Thursdays) A topical comedy-variety hour designed to showcase Foxx's unique talents as a stand-up humorist and character comedian.

Operation Petticoat (8:30 p.m., Saturdays) A half-hour comedy based on the Cary Grant-Tony Curtis picture of the same name about an unlikely submarine crew. There's a beleaguered captain, his wheeler-dealer executive officer, and the crew that has just rescued a group of gorgeous nurses. John Astin is the captain.

Love Boat (10 p.m., Saturdays) An hour-long comedy set aboard a luxury cruise ship. Romantic entanglements involve the colorful ship's crew of continuing characters and major guest stars. Gavin MacLeod of Mary Tyler Moore Show fame plays the captain.

Seven programs that were introduced mid-season have also made it to next year. They are Eight Is Enough, Three's Company, Fish, Hardy Boys/Nancy Drew Mysteries, How the West Was Won (which will air in 10 two-hour segments) and What's Happening. The Captain and Tennille and The Brady Bunch Hour will not return regularly. They will appear as specials.

So, there it is. The next move is yours.

NBC's coverage of the 1980 Olympics is more than three years away, yet the network has already been flooded with letters from people wanting to work on the project. So far more than 400 applications for assignment in Russia have been received. Most applicants say they can read, write and speak fluent Russian, and desire such positions as interpreters, announcers, researchers, photographers, doctors, writers and production personnel.

And then there was one letter from a Pennsylvania woman who wanted NBC to purchase a choice piece of property she owns -- not in Moscow, Leningrad or Minsk -- in Pennsylvania.

Anyway, if there are any Russian enthusiasts out there you can send a resume to Robert E. Mulholland, Executive Vice President, Olympics, NBC, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020.

TV Star Scene

Mystery fans take heart. Next season one of your heroes, a true sleuth in every sense of the word, Nero Wolfe, will be the subject of an ABC TV movie, now filming in New York. Wolfe, the corpulent gourmet detective who raises orchids and works with a legman named Archie in Rex Stout's novels, will be played by Thayer David. Also in the cast are Tom Mason, Anne Baxter and Brooke Adams.

You'll get to see if Ron Howard is as good behind the camera as in front when he makes his directorial debut in the feature film, "Grand Theft Auto." It opens nationally this summer... Grant Goodeve and Lauri Walters, who co-star as brother and sister (David and Joannie) on Eight Is Enough, will continue the sibling bit in an episode of the religious series, Insight, entitled "Requiem for Thanksgiving."

Charlie's Angels Kate Jackson, in town with her own poster (a rather straight-forward, sophisticated look), had this to say about it: "I have to be the way I really am. I decided to go for class. If I looked at that on the wall, I'd want to get good grades rather than go to parties. I'm representing myself the way I want to be. At 28, I have to be true to myself." Hear that, kids?

Danny Kaye was at the United Nations to receive the first UNICEF Award for Distinguished Service at the International Level. Kaye has been the organization's Goodwill Ambassador for 24 years... Ben Vereen, the multi-talented performer who came to prominence on Broadway in "Pippin" and recently received raves for his Roots' role of Chicken George, has been signed by ABC for a musical special set for next season.

Johnny Mathis will sing the title song for the 90-minute NBC special, "The Story of Princess Grace... Once Upon a Time Is Now." Lee Grant hosts the show, which will feature Princess Caroline's first TV appearance... The final episode of Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman will have Mary, Louise Lasser, running off with the lawman love of her life, Sgt. Dennis Foley, Bruce Solomon, now co-starring in Lanigan's Rabbi.

David Birney, currently starring in "Testimony of Two Men," says both he and wife Meredith Baxter Birney, of Family, are pleased their careers were not permanently meshed after Bridget Loves Bernie. He says, "God knows we could have gone on like Donny and Marie." Coming up on that PBS Tex-Mex music series, Austin City Limits, are such singing wizards as Willie Nelson, Tracy Nelson, Amazing Rhythm Aces, and The Earl Scruggs Revue... Fred Rogers, the ever-friendly creator and host of PBS's acclaimed children's series,

Progressive Country Music in Concert

Austin City Limits features 19 progressive country music acts in its new season of 10 one-hour programs premiering over the Public Broadcasting Service May 16.

Now in its second new season, Austin City Limits programs continue to reflect a vitality and state of mind that critics have called "the most exciting new direction in music." The music is progressive country, a fusion of rock music with American roots or country and western music. The softening of rock combined with contemporary country expression produces a sound that easily bridges generation as well as cultural gaps in its appeal. These fresh interpretations of musical styles as old as America, establish credible new links with the romantic past of Texas and the West, moderating the hillbilly, poor-white-trash image of country music that has long alienated urban listeners.

While there has always been a wealth of music in Texas, it has now flourished as it does now in conjunction with the Austin evolution of contemporary country music, the most popular sound growing out of the city. Although the state has continuously produced outstanding musicians representing virtually every

WILLIE NELSON, considered by many the founder of the progressive country movement, performs on the first of the new Austin City Limits programs, Monday, May 16. (EDITORS: Check locally for airdate and time)

musical style, the Texas musical environment hasn't always been as hospitable as in recent years. As a consequence, many musicians have felt the need to move to other parts of the country to pursue musical careers, thus eroding a rich musical heritage.

The progressive country style digs back into a variety of traditional country music roots while simultaneously moving forward into contemporary musical interpretations. Instrumentation and arrangement are usually simple and direct, yet innovative, and the lyrics are relevant to life styles and attitudes of the 1970's. It's a forthright Texas approach toward realizing the potential of an underdeveloped country and western idiom.

The turn-around in Texas music began in 1972, when singer-composer Willie Nelson gave up on the conservative Nashville country music and accepted the hospitality and appreciation of Austin audiences. Although it can't be said that he actually created the Austin music scene, Willie became the catalyst to give it validity, introducing the area to other "outlaws" (rebels breaking away from the "formula Nashville sound").

Willie, who is featured in the premiere of the new Austin City Limits series, has become a sort of cult hero of the new "outlaw" movement. He shared three Country Music Association awards last year and recently won an American Music award for his recording of "Blue Eyes Cryin' in the Rain." His informality and smile belie the "outlaw" tag and have helped create a state of mind that has established the mood for the growth of a wide range of music in Austin's thriving, yet relaxed, musical environment.

TATUM O'NEAL is seen in her Oscar-winning performance when she co-stars with her father RYAN O'NEAL in PAPER MOON, about a couple of con artists who form an alliance during the Depression. It airs Sunday, May 15 over CBS.

NEAT IDEA -- To whom would a person write in order to suggest an idea for a TV serial (or whatever)? Perhaps a vice president at CBS? The lead would be female, and I really think I've got a neat idea to present. Nancy Haas, Fargo, N.D.

First off, you'd be wasting your time to send it directly to a network. It wouldn't be read. I suggest you first register the idea with the Writers Guild to dissuade someone from stealing it. Write: The Writers Guild of America East, 22 West 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10036. Ask them how to go about this. Next, get yourself a reputable agent to represent you and your idea to the networks. A number of them accept ideas, treatments, scripts and such directly through the mail. I got this out of the phone book, and can't guarantee anything, but try CCRLA Literary and Talent Agents, P.O. Box 8064-C, 301 S. Capitol Ave., San Jose, CA. Good luck.

SCREAMS -- In the instrumental section of "Love Rollercoaster" by the Ohio Players, there is a woman-like shrill scream. What is it? D.B., Maas, Ohio

The record was released in the middle of all the hype about snuff pictures (where people were supposedly murdered on screen). It was suggested a woman was attacked on the record, and for a while the rumor persisted until it ran out of steam. Of course, no one was killed. A woman was just screaming for effect, as if riding a rollercoaster, as the scream was originally intended.

SON OF TEX -- Is John Ritter from Three's Company related to Tex Ritter, the cowboy singer? Also, could you tell me if he is married? Nancy Jameson, Somerset, N.Y.

John is the son of Tex, although unlike his father his acting is better than his singing. He's not married at the moment, but says he's living with someone whom he plans to marry soon.

PATTERED -- Are Dick Van Patten, Joyce Van Patten and Vince Van Patten related? I seem to see a family resemblance. J.J.

The family that plays together stays together in the Van Patten clan. Dick and Joyce are brother and sister and Vince is Dick's son.

DREW MYSTERY -- How old is Pamela Sue Martin (Nancy Drew). I heard from a friend that she dates Parker Stevenson and Shaun Cassidy. Is it true? Also, what is the real name of George on the show? A. Tsuji, Aptos, Calif.

The latest of TV's sleuths is 26, a bit older than the character she plays. I haven't heard of her hooking up with either of the Hardy Boys, they just share the same time slot. George is played by Jean Rasey.

TWO JOBS -- On Sesame Street there's a guy who always paints numbers on everything. Is he the same person who plays the English neighbor on The Jeffersons? Laurie Lipper, East Brunswick, N.J.

When Paul Benedict is not putting up with George Jefferson on your home screen, he's painting numbers across it. Same guy, a very fine stage actor as well.

DRUNK -- I heard that Robert Redford is an alcoholic. Is this so? Also, how old is he? Marnie Bessaw, Biloxi, Miss.

Redford is not an alcoholic, but he admits to having had a bad period as a young man when he drank heavily. He's said about losing a baseball scholarship at the University of Colorado: "It was the beginning of a three year period when it seemed I was drunk every other day. I don't remember much of 1956." Redford will be 40 in August.

SON OF TEX -- Is John Ritter from Three's Company related to Tex Ritter, the cowboy singer? Also, could you tell me if he is married? Nancy Jameson, Somerset, N.Y.

John is the son of Tex, although unlike his father his acting is better than his singing. He's not married at the moment, but says he's living with someone whom he plans to marry soon.

PATTERED -- Are Dick Van Patten, Joyce Van Patten and Vince Van Patten related? I seem to see a family resemblance. J.J.

Tuning In on 'Dog and Cat'

By DAN LEWIS

Take one striking honey blonde Georgia beauty who was a successful New York model and team her with a rough-hewn former actor-turned director on an involuntary comeback and one has Dog and Cat, a recent entry on ABC's prime-time roster on Saturday nights at 10.

Kim Bassinger is a blue-eyed former beauty contest winner in her native Georgia, who drove cross country in a jeep, accompanied only by her two dogs and two cats and wardrobe and, within a year after reaching Hollywood, was picked to costar in a TV series.

Lou Antonio first enjoyed success on Broadway, came to Hollywood 10 years ago and for the first three years kept very busy in guest roles. Then he started directing. For the past three years, he has done nothing but direct in television. Then along came Dog and Cat and he's back to acting and quite happy about it.

"You can't understand the pressures of directing for television," says Antonio, whose professional career after college was as a sportswriter on the Daily Oklahoman in Oklahoma City, his home town.

But the theater bug bit him when he attended a back home production because his brother was performing in it. Antonio decided to reverse his career, started acting in local theaters. Then he headed for New York, where he studied with the revered acting coach, Lee Strasberg.

He won a Theatre World

Award for his first performance in an off-Broadway play called "The Buffalo Skinner."

In addition, he ventured into television, when there still was production in New York, such as Naked City and The Defenders.

In Hollywood, he was in constant demand. He appeared in many series as guest star, including Gunsmoke, The Fugitive, and Mission: Impossible, but almost always as the heavy. While doubling as actor and director, he took a regular role in The Snoop Sisters, an NBC Mystery Movie show, which costarred Helen Hayes and Mildred Natwick. It lasted one season, and it was one of the few times he didn't play a heavy.

"That's why I got out of acting," Antonio explains. "I got tired of playing the bad guy, holding the gun up to nice people every week. Then I found out I had a knack for directing. Then I got bored of directing weekly car chases."

So, he's back to acting. He's a semi-nice guy this time, at least a full-time good guy detective who finds himself partnered with a foxy pretty girl. It's made obvious that he's

Community invited to participate in tennis tournament

The Georgetown Memorial Weekend Open Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Georgetown High School Tennis Team, is coming up May 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The Tournament is a project to encourage enthusiasm for tennis, to raise money for much needed windscreens on the high school tennis courts and to encourage community participation and involvement, according to GHS Tennis Coach Mike Clardy.

PLAYERS do not have to be outstanding, the coach added. "We are having both junior and adult competition and in the adult bracket players will be divided into championship, 'A' division, novice, 35 and over and open division categories. This entry. They can be mailed to Mike Clardy, 4140 Sequoia Trail, Georgetown, Texas 78626. Coach Clardy may also be reached at 863-8072 for further information about the tournament.

The best two out of three sets with 9 point tie breaker at 6 all will make up a match.

TROPHIES WILL be awarded to first and second place winners in each event. Players may only enter two events plus mixed doubles.

Tournament check in time will be 7:45 a.m. on May 27 for Junior singles and 12 noon for Junior doubles. Adult events—championship singles, men's "A" singles and women's singles — will begin at 5 p.m. on May 27. Adult men's and women's doubles will begin May 28 at 10 a.m.

The GHS tennis courts will be tournament headquarters and play will take place on 10 high school courts, four Southwestern University courts and nine other courts located throughout the community.

REGULATIONS for the Georgetown open require that proper tennis clothing be worn and guards placed on metal rackets. Junior players are also prohibited from playing in both Junior and Adult events. Juniors may choose not to play Junior events and enter championship division if they wish. The rules also specify that any division with less than 16 entrants will be cancelled and the money be refunded.

All Georgetown area tennis enthusiasts are invited to participate in the upcoming tournament, whether or not they are champions. "Playing tennis is fun and it's good exercise," Coach Clardy stressed. "We want to emphasize the fun side of play as well as the winning. We would like for everyone to come out to play and enjoy the weekend."

Art Guild plans future activities

"Outstanding" was how members of the Williamson County Art Guild described the first show and sale sponsored by the group.

The Guild met recently to discuss reactions to the show held at Old Settlers' Park in Round Rock, and to make plans for future shows. Guild president, Steve Benton, expressed appreciation to those who helped make the show a success with special thanks to the Old Settlers' Association for the use of the park, to St. Helen's Catholic Church of Georgetown for the use of their public address system and to the Georgetown branch of Austin Savings for copy service and complimentary advertising.

While discussing plans for future shows, the Guild agreed to coordinate the two-day San Gabriel Arts and Crafts Show sponsored annually by the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce. This year's show will be held in October at the Community Center Building in Georgetown. The Guild also set a Last Chance Christmas Show to be held on December 3.

Plans were also made for an art auction with proceeds to be donated to the Wendell Osborn Memorial Fund to benefit the psychology department at Southwestern University. Osborn was a professor in the psychology department and in his spare time enjoyed making pottery. It is expected that several of his original creations will be offered for sale at the auction, as well as many other items.

for mowing lawnsThe voice of the turtle — and the lawnmower — are being heard in the land.And along with the roar and whine of the mower are cries of anguish from the victims of its powerful blades.With at least 50 million power mowers whirring away, hospitals expect more than 125,000 patients to be rushed into emergency rooms this year with cuts,
bruises, contusions, sprains, fractures — and worse —
inflicted by the rotary and reel blades designed to keep lawns in trim.The DEPARTMENT of Safety and Research of the Combined Life Insurance Company of New York reports that most of the injured are victims of their own carelessness. While operators of mowers are the principal sufferers from their own negligence, the toll also includes innocent bystanders, mainly women and children who become targets of mishandled mowers and the sticks and stones they fling at bullet speed.People have been killed or maimed when riding mowers have backed into them or flung stones.
Operators of mowers have lost fingers and toes — and arms and legs — because of negligence and some have been crushed to death under overturned equipment.The Federal Consumer Product Safety Commission cautions that driving a mower requires many of the same skills called for in operating an automobile. It is just as important to study the instructions that come with a mower as it is to pore over the manual in the glove compartment of a new car.• Mow only in daylight or good artificial light.• Wear sturdy shoes — not sneakers (and never go barefoot) — and don closefitting clothing that cannot become entangled in the machinery.• HANDLE GASOLINE with care. Never remove the gas tank cap or add fuel while the engine is running or hot. Let the engine cool before refueling. Wipe up all spills. Never smoke while refueling.• Try to mow only when grass is dry; wet grass is slippery and hazardous.• When using a walking mower, never try to pull it backward, lest it run over your feet.• When putting a riding mower into reverse, take special precautions to make sure no one, particularly a child, is behind you.• Be careful when mowing slopes and hills. Mow up and down, not back and forth.A combined safety expert, who also is a weekend gardner, says that mowing a lawn — and observing the results — can be a most satisfying experience."Now we must," he said,
"but let's do it safely."

Convicted assailant to appeal

Parker's sentence official—99 years

James Ray Parker, who was recently found guilty of severely beating and attempting to rape a Southwestern University coed last fall after breaking into her Georgetown apartment, was officially sentenced Thursday afternoon to 99 years confinement in the Texas state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Parker immediately filed notice with Dist. Judge William S. Lott that he intends to appeal the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, the state's highest court of appeal in criminal cases.

Reliable sources said Parker, a 25-year-old former janitor and cook in Georgetown would probably have to spend at least 12-13 years in the penitentiary before he could even be considered for parole.

LOTT SENTENCED Parker after denying his motion for a new trial on two points of alleged court error. But the judge did agree to appoint an attorney for Parker's defense in the appeals phase of the case and granted Parker 250 days credit on his term for time already served in the Williamson County Jail at Georgetown.

Mike Grimes of Round Rock, Parker's attorney during the trial, sought the new trial for Parker, contending that the court had erred in allowing the testimony of psychiatrist Dr. John Holbrook of Dallas to be presented as evidence before the jury, and that the prosecution should have been forced to prove Parker was not insane at the time of the crime.

Grimes argued that the court allowed Holbrook, over the objection of the defense, to present a professional opinion regarding Parker's sanity which was not based on the legal definition of the term "insanity."

"THIS CONFUSED the issue, and the jury, if nothing else," said Grimes.

He also asserted that Holbrook should not have been allowed to examine Parker on behalf of the prosecution during the trial stage of the case, and complained that he had been improperly denied an opportunity to know what Holbrook would testify.

Grimes also argued that recent decisions of at least

32 supreme courts in other states indicate that once the issue of insanity is raised, the state should be responsible for proving a defendant's shadow "beyond a reasonable doubt," rather than the defense having to prove insanity by a "preponderance of evidence."

Lott, displaying signs of irritation occasionally during Grimes' presentations, then denied the motion.

HE GRANTED the request for a court-appointed attorney after Parker testified that he is unable to pay for one himself.

Lott also agreed to grant Parker credit for the time he has already spent in jail and consented to send the trial testimony of psychiatrists in the case for examination by penitentiary officials.

A Williamson County jury in Lott's 26th state District Court declared Parker guilty on April 21 of crawling through the window of an apartment adjoining his own in a duplex on Hutto Road last Sept. 5, then beating and attempting to rape the suitor who lived there.

He was first indicted on a charge of attempted rape, which carries a sentence of 2-20 years in prison, but the indictment was later changed to burglary of a habitation to commit a felony, a charge for which a defendant can be sentenced to 99 years to life in prison upon conviction.

DURING TWO DAYS of testimony in the case, which came to trial April 19, Grimes tried to establish that Parker was insane at the time of the crime and therefore could not be held accountable for his acts.

Dist. Atty. Edward Walsh sought life imprisonment for Parker, arguing that he was "an ex-con hiding behind an insanity defense." Parker had previously served time in the state penitentiary for assault with intent to rape.

The jury found Parker legally sane and rendered a guilty verdict, recommending times, eluding the other one and going to the car for a can of mace. She then reported spraying the thin one with the tear gas.

Then she said "the fat one" broke a beer bottle on her car and scratched her arms, face and legs. Beck said she grabbed him and hit his head on her car and apparently hurt him as he laid there a while and there was both blood and a dent on the car.

LAW ENFORCEMENT officers had not apprehended any subjects. They are looking for two subjects on a charge of assault with attempt to rape.

• Subject 1. — Latin male 5'10", 160 lbs., slim build, with short curly hair and thin mustache wearing light blue clothes.

• Subject 2. — Latin male, 250 lbs., 25-28 years old with collar length straight hair wearing blue jeans and a plaid shirt.

After the incident, Beck went to Austin but then returned to Georgetown to the police department to report the attempted rape.

Beck called up the Sheriff's office three days later, on Wednesday night about 7 p.m., and talked to Sheriff's dispatcher Randy Neville. She stayed on the phone for about 30 minutes, saying that she was going to "end it all." She kept fading in and out.

She said that she had some pills and some whiskey.

COLLIER said that Beck had apparently talked to the Sheriff's department from a pay phone in Georgetown, then driven to Andice, turned around and headed back.

She had gone off the road and onto a cement culvert, swerved, got onto the road, spun around and slid into the grass on the other side of the road.

Friday evening she was listed in satisfactory condition in Georgetown Hospital.

COLLIER said an ambulance, and Beck was rushed to the Georgetown hospital.

Friday evening she was listed in satisfactory condition in Georgetown Hospital.

SUN straw-poll shows Georgetown warm on Carter's energy scheme

What do Georgetown residents think of the President's energy policy plan, recently unveiled to the nation and now under Congressional scrutiny?

The majority of respondents to a straw poll conducted by The SUN indicate they believe there is an energy crisis and would voluntarily cooperate with Jimmy Carter's proposed measures for coping with that crisis. But nearly half don't like the proposals and expect to suffer financial burdens if they become law.

FOR THE POLL, we posed six questions concerning the proposed policy. The results of the 37 completed questionnaires returned to us by randomly-selected participants were as follows:

Question	Response
1. Are you generally in favor of the President's energy plan?	26 10
2. Do you believe there is a genuine energy emergency?	30 7
3. Would you cooperate voluntarily with most of the proposed program?	35 2
4. Will your next car be a smaller, more efficient one?	32 4
5. Would you insulate your home or business additionally?	27 8
6. Would you be hurt financially by the program?	16 15

We also asked for supplementary comments about the plan. The 20 sets we got included some interesting observations and opinions not only about the plan, but about the energy supply situation in this country. Here is a sampling:

(In response to question 3.) "I already own such a car and have for four years; I believe any other type of car should not be taxed, but prohibited by law. (The same respondent replies to question 6.) "Relative to what? The problem with this question is that everyone will be hurt financially in the future compared to now, regardless of what develops in the way of an energy program. (But) to do nothing or fail to adopt a policy which will encourage conservation will inevitably lead to financial catastrophe for everyone."

"In my opinion, our government is not using our bargaining power correctly with OPEC. (The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the Arabian oil cartel.) Our strength is in our goods and services, which we could withhold until the price of a barrel of crude oil comes around."

"The idea of taxing oil and returning the money to the taxpayers seems ridiculous —

we all know what happens to money when you funnel it through the bureaucracy! Be rational; let the marketplace, not the government, govern our conservation."

(In response to questions 4 and 5.) "I don't own either. If I did, I would have already moved down to a smaller car as a result of the gas shortage two years ago!"

"Probably I would not be hurt financially by the program at its inception, but as a consumer, of course I would eventually be

Woman fights off attackers, is found later unconscious

An Austin woman was listed in satisfactory condition Friday evening in the intensive care unit of the Georgetown hospital after a possible suicide attempt Wednesday night. The possible suicide attempt came just three days after she had reported to police successfully fighting off two men who had attempted to rape her near Georgetown on the North San Gabriel River.

Lynn Beck, 20, of Austin was discovered Wednesday at 7:52 p.m. passed out behind the wheel of her yellow Toyota on Andice Road about 30 minutes after threatening to "end it all" while talking over the phone to Sheriff's dispatcher Randy Neville.

Beck had been to the Georgetown's Police Department late last Sunday night, saying that she had successfully defended herself against two men who had tried to rape her at the 2nd Booty's Road on the North San Gabriel, about 4 miles northwest of Georgetown earlier that night.

BECK SAID that she was parked at the end of the road at the 2nd Booty's crossover last Sunday night when two Latin males came out of the bushes speaking Spanish.

She reported that one of the men, whom she described as "the fat one," pulled her off the car by the leg and then both of them jumped on her.

She told Georgetown Police that the two men tried to pull her pants off.

She said that she managed successfully to defend herself by kicking "the thin one", who had a switchblade in the groin several

Westside schedules open house

All voters in the Georgetown Independent School District are invited to have coffee at Westside Intermediate School on Wednesday, May 18, between 10 a.m. and noon.

Parents will be on hand to serve coffee and take interested persons on tours of the school facilities to show them the areas in which the building is believed to be deficient.

Visitors are welcome to visit the school at any time, however they are encouraged to come on Wednesday when persons will be available to show them around and answer questions.

School officials hoping proposition 2 will pass

by DAMOND BENNINGFIELD

SUN staff writer

After several years of discussion and at least one deal that fell through, Georgetown High School could get a new all-weather track by next season.

District voters will decide the issue in next Saturday's $1,885,000 bond election. Proposition 2 on the ballot would approve the sale of $85,000 in bonds for the construction of a track.

Proposition 1 concerns $1.8 million for construction and renovation at three Georgetown school campuses.

GEORGETOWN SCHOOL SUPT. Jack Frost said Wednesday that the possibility of a track for the new high school has been discussed since the school was built in 1975. A potential agreement with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to construct the track last fall fell through, he added.

The new facility would be an all-weather Resolite surface with eight lanes, jumping pits and porta-pits for pole vaulting and the high jump.

The 28-foot wide track, which Frost said would probably be located at the new high school, would replace a makeshift facility made in a clearing east of the school.

The current track, however, with tall weeds encroaching upon the lanes and rocks obstructing runners' paths, has caused problems for the boys' and girls' track teams this year, athletic officials say.

TRACK COACH David Greeno, whose team finished near the bottom at the district meet this year at Round Rock, said hurdler-sprinter Jimmy Jacobs, one of the team's top athletes, was lost for the district meet because of the track.

Jacobs was practicing his hurdling when he came down on a rock in the middle of the track and cracked a bone in his foot.

Athletic Trainer Glenn Stroech, who treats injuries to all high school athletes, said the track has caused other health problems this season.

He said the girl's team was suffering an unusually high number of shin splints — pulling a muscle from the shin bone — early in the season, mostly because of the hard track surface.

"I WOULDN'T SAY it's dangerous," he said of the present dirt facility, "but a lot of times when you're running, you can't see things like a hole or a rock in front of you. With a good track, you know exactly what's there."

Georgetown Athletic Director Les Johnson said a track is needed not only to insure the track teams will be competitive, but to help in all sports.

"To have a complete athletic program, you have to have a track program," he said. "To be able to compete with Belton and Taylor, you have to have a place to teach kids how to run. And, of course, you've got to have speed."

Greeno said the current track is also hard on equipment. The team ordered 200 long spikes for practice running at the start of the season, usually enough for about two years, according to Greeno, but now only "old, bent-up" spikes are left. New ones will have to be ordered for next season.

SHOES, TOO, have been hurt by use of the old track.

"We've gone through twice as many shoes as we normally would," Greeno explained. "Say a hurdler comes along, and when he jumps a hurdle, he comes down with the

Liberty Hill

School board may increase vocational class space

Because of overcrowding in the Liberty Hill School District's vocational classes, the school board voted Monday night to have Superintendent James Perry check into the costs of either building a new vocational facility or relocating some of the classes in other present facilities.

Tentative figures discussed by the board were a cost of $12 to $18 per square foot to build a new portable vocational class building and $6 per square foot to remodel the old vocational building.

Perry said he will investigate both and report back to the board at the next meeting.

The board also approved five changes in school policy. They were:

- Changing the board meeting schedule. They will now meet on the second Monday of each month instead of the first Monday of each month.

- Adopting a policy change that would eliminate discrimination in extra class activities. The board adopted a policy that would allow students to participate

Garden Club installs officers

On May 5, 1977, the Georgetown Garden Club had its spring installation meeting at the home of outgoing president, Mrs. Burl Brooks. A covered dish luncheon preceded the installation ceremony.

New Garden Club officers are, president, Mrs. Tom Pickard; first vice-presidents and co-chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Leroy Peterson and Mrs. Jim Adkins; second vice-president and chairman of the flower show, Mrs. D. E. Armstrong; third vice-president and civic and garden chairman, Mrs. Robert Southworth; fourth vice-president and yearbook chairman, Mrs. L. A. Dedeck; fifth vice-president and membership chairman, Mrs. Donald Collier; treasurer, Mrs. Alton Carter; recording secretary, Mrs. Jim Conomos; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. L. Tonn and parliamentarian, Mrs. Jim Adkins.

Mrs. F. W. Buchanan performed the installation service in a simple, direct and most effective way.

The short business meeting was highlighted by issuing the new cookbooks to members, who will be considered extra class activities regardless of race, sex or national origin and would allow married and/or pregnant students to participate. Two board members, J. W. Hicks Jr. and Robert Moore, voted against the change.

Any staff member that is suspended will be sent a letter by certified mail giving the reasons for the suspension. Perry said that the policy would put the district in a better position if a court case resulted from the suspension of a staff member.

If the board terminates a teacher's contract, the teacher has a right to a hearing before the board if it is requested within five days after notification of the termination.

Students facing expulsion from the school system are also allowed a hearing before the board.

THE BOARD ALSO upped tuition for two summer school classes from a proposed $25 per course to $40 per course. The summer school program will include an English course and a math course. They will be taught for 20 days during the summer for two hours each.

said Perry.

The increased rate would pay the costs of operating the building for the classes. The board did agree that if a student could not afford the higher rate the superintendent would be allowed to set the tuition at his discretion.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board delayed action on paving the high school parking lot and ordered textbooks for the 1977-78 school year.

Still a good buy... all over the house.

But, conserve electricity and save money.

Forty or fifty years ago, the electric bill was most often referred to as "the light bill." In thousands of homes, Mr. Edison's illuminating invention was not the only electrically operated device in use, but people associated its benefits with their costs for electricity.

Today, higher costs for electricity seem to overshadow the many benefits of electricity. The majority of American homes now have at least 14 different electric appliances, in addition to lighting: radio, television, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, clothes washer, iron, toaster, coffeemaker, mixer, range, frypan, bed coverings, can opener and some type of air conditioner.

Whether you have 14 or 40 electric appliances, we believe that if you will compare their benefits with your costs of operating them, you'll agree that electricity is still a good buy... all over the house.

Women's Club to purchase park benches

San Gabriel Women's Club met on May 12 in the home of Betty Thomas for its business meeting.

Pat Giddings announced that the benefit featuring Shelby Hearon was a success, and the group will be able to proceed with their project of placing benches in the park near the bandstand.

These benches are custom-made for the San Gabriel Women's Club by Elgin Iron Works and are replicas of the Hyde Park benches in Austin. This will be a continuing project for the group.

Clare Mashburn spoke to the club about the approaching school bond election, urging everyone to vote and explaining more fully the needs of the school system in Georgetown.

Light desserts were served

Citizens ask questions at public hearing on school bond

"How many years are these facilities expected to be adequate?"

"Will we stay with 75 percent assessment or will it go up?"

"How much equipment is involved with the school bus shed?"

"THESE WERE some of the questions citizens asked at the Thursday night public hearing in the Georgetown High School Commons on the proposed $1,885,000 school bond.

School administrators reviewed a proposed $812,200 budget for Primary School, $672,000 budget for Westside Intermediate School and $237,800 budget for Northside Middle School additions and alterations. They also discussed a $60,000 budget for a school bus maintenance facility and $85,000 budget for an all-weather running track.

Following the brief review of each school's needs, school board president, John Thomas gave the floor to those attending in order for them to ask questions and express their opinions.

JERRY ORR asked the trustees how many years the Georgetown schools would be adequate if additional classrooms were built. Thomas responded that the additions were designed to accommodate 750 students at Primary and 550 students in each of the other two schools. With projected enrollment, he added, the new construction should carry the district into the early 1980s.

Orr then asked, "Were projected tax increases based on the assumption that we will have a rising tax base as well as rising enrollment?"

Superintendent Jack Frost explained that all tax projections were based on the current tax base (current taxable property value in the district). Therefore, he pointed out, any increase in the number of people owning property in the district would lower the estimated tax.

Retired tax representative, Al Evans, said that he had no argument with the need for the additional classrooms. He expressed concern, however, that state laws would keep forcing up the local share of school funding and that such action might cause the current 75 percent assessment to go up.

DISTRICT BUSINESS manager, Jerry Graham responded. He explained that the confusion with the amount of local money required came about because of the different agencies appraising the land. Values for the current law (HB 1126) were set by Management Services Associates (MSA), an Austin consulting firm. According to the MSA study, Georgetown had a total taxable wealth of $91 million to be taxed at a rate of 35 cents per $100 value. Later another study was conducted by the Governor's Office of Education Resources (GOER). This governmental agency arrived at two values: a $168 million full market value and a $109 million agricultural use value. The concern with skyrocketing local fund assignments, according to Graham, comes from multiplying the GOER market value figures by the 35 cent tax rate set for the MSA figures. "The Governor's Office figures," Graham said, "are meant to be used with a 10 to 18 cent tax rate," not a 35 cent rate."

Local businessman, Jim Rehler was concerned with the cost of the proposed bus maintenance facility. He asked whether the district planned to include hydraulic lifts and a lot of equipment with the shed. "Estimates for this building seem to be very high at $13 per square foot," he added. "Metal buildings can be built for $4 or $5 per foot."

"WE DO NOT plan to have a lot of equipment," Jerry Graham responded. "We want to have an air system and some chain hoists, if the money is available, but we do not plan to use a hydraulic system with these buses."

Cost estimates were defended by architect Eugene McKee. He told the group that he had contacted two different Austin builders for the estimates. He did say, however, that the figures were higher than other metal buildings his firm had built. "Hopefully the structure can be built for less," he added.

Balloting on the $1.8 million proposition No. 1 for additions and alterations to Primary, Westside and Northside schools and a school bus maintenance facility and the $85,000 proposition No. 2 will take place on May 21. Voters from precinct 1, 2, 8 and 29 will vote at Fire Station No. 1 on Main Street in Georgetown. Precinct No. 30 voters will cast their ballots at the Walburg Community Center. Absentee ballots may be cast at the Superintendent's Office at Georgetown High School between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until May 17.

April active for Xi Mu Rho

Xi Mu Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met Tuesday, April 5, in the home of Barbara Norment.

The meeting was called to order by president Billie Ragsdale. Program chairpersons, Merrill Person and Margie Johnson, presented the guest speaker for the evening, Don Holt.

Holt is the adult probation officer for Williamson County. He gave a most informative and entertaining program on his position and duties. A group discussion followed with many questions being asked by chapter members.

The business meeting followed with the reading of the minutes and financial report. Six members of Xi Mu Rho represented our chapter at the Easter party for the children at the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin. A good time was reported in spite of the rain.

Hostess Barbara Norment served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Our April 19 meeting was held in the home of president Billie Ragsdale. This was our "Ugly Pearl" meeting.

The program "Ideological Movements" was presented by Helyne Knauth and Vivian Wood. The Beta Sigma Phi Review was given by Linda Werchan. The business meeting followed.

All members will attend the Founder's Day Luncheon in Austin on April 30. Xi Mu Rho will have a concession stand at the Paint Horse Show at the Sheriff's Posse Arena in San Gabriel Park on Sunday, May 15. This will be our final Ways and Means Project for the year.

Our "Ugly Pearl" for the 1977 year was named, Diane Sansom took the honors.

Delicious homemade ice cream was served by hostess Billie Ragsdale.

Leander

Elementary enrollment up 104 over last year

Leander school district elementary enrollment jumped to 1,125 this May, up from 1,021 just last year. School Superintendent Joe Ward reported the increase to the school board Tuesday night, adding that the secondary enrollment has remained fairly stable.

The board approved plans for the district's Building and Trades Program to return to the practice of purchasing a lot, building a home on it and then selling it.

The building class had tried contracting to build a home, but it did not work out as well, said Ward. Buying the lot gives the teacher and students complete control, while working with a contractor imposes limitations. The Leander district is considering increasing the number of credits required for graduation from 20 to 22. The school board will get the results of a study on graduation standards in July.

The board will also consider changing the requirements for passing a course and revising the policy for placing students at different levels of difficulty in basic courses, such as

Heritage Society to have program on revitalization

Georgetown is great but it can be greater.

People who are interested in finding out how the city can be greater may attend the meeting of the Georgetown Heritage Society on Thursday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Eanes-Ames house, 1004 Church St. (directly behind the First Baptist Church).

GUEST SPEAKERS for the meeting will be Mary Lou Watkins and former Mayor Hugh Raupe of Granbury, both of whom were influential in the Granbury "renaissance" that went into the town's revitalization.

RE-DEVELOPMENT of Georgetown can come when an alliance of enthusiastic citizens brings a new vitality to the streets of downtown Georgetown. Dreamers can envision the changes that can come about, but "doers" can see the realization of those dreams for a better Georgetown.

Commercial opportunity can be combined with a respect for community heritage. The idea of the "town square revitalization" in Granbury has many elements in common with successful redevelopments of this type across the country. Georgetown could be included in that list, and the economic possibilities of restoration efforts are limitless.

The Thursday meeting gives the people of Georgetown an opportunity to set the course for restoration, revitalization and renaissance by taking a good look at what's here and the possibilities for the future of this historic area. The success of any downtown or neighborhood revitalization project must depend ultimately upon the enthusiastic commitment of all segments of the community. Greater numbers of people must be involved if there is to be a greater Georgetown. A spirit of cooperative enterprise is needed for preservation efforts.

IF GRANBURY, with about a third of the population of Georgetown, can bring about such a miracle, there's no reason why Georgetown can't have a "renaissance" of its own.

Ms. Watkins, a leader in Granbury's restoration, and Raupe will tell at the Thursday meeting of their experiences in the restoration process, including some things that worked and some things that didn't work. They will emphasize the economic and financial advantages that Granbury experienced as a result of their restoration efforts. A question-and-answer period will follow the speakers' remarks.

Concluding the meeting will be a short business session with the agenda including ratification of by-laws, election of a board of directors and approval of articles of incorporation.

DOING A... MAN SIZED JOB

Heat . . . sweat . . . fatigue . . . blisters . . . aches . . . Dad says its all a part of "carrying my share of the load." He also says that, "it's important that I help make provisions for the present and near future." But he says "that it is even more important because I am preparing for the days ahead when I am a full grown man." Sometimes I think that my Dad has the wisdom of Solomon, that's this king that I learned about at church . . . and that's another thing that Dad says is important . . . "that I go to church regularly, so that I can learn about God, and prepare my spiritual life for the future, too." You know . . . Dad must think it's important . . . He goes to church, too.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Red Alert Probes Computer Control

Man controls his environment down to its smallest divisible particle, the atom. Or does he?

In "Red Alert," an accident at a nuclear power plant causes a computer to erroneously detect escaped radiation and to seal off the building, trapping 14 technicians inside. The computer in question is the giant Proteus computer which, in this fictionalized account, monitors a nationwide complex of 64 nuclear plants.

Frank Broden, an investigator for the Department of Nuclear Energy, immediately begins an on-site probe, but his superior in Colorado, Henry Stone, refuses to countermand the computer-ordered shutdown.

Meanwhile, Proteus has calculated three possible causes of the accident: human error, defective equipment, or sabotage. As Broden's investigation continues, it begins to look like sabotage, but soon the more fundamental question is raised: who controls this nuclear complex, man or computer?

To give authenticity to the backgrounds, producer Barry Goldberg and director William Hale made arrangements to shoot the film in NASA's Mission Control Center. The sophisticated communications, computer, and data-display equipment at the center give Proteus a visual impact it would not have been possible to achieve on a Hollywood sound stage.

Also used as a set is the NASA Space Environment Simulation Laboratory. The space chamber stands an imposing 120 feet high, and sports a 40-foot high, 40,000 pound door. The chamber, used to test space flight equipment, is so imposing that the "Red Alert" crew members named it "King Kong."

"Red Alert" stars William Devane, Ralph Waite, Michael Brandon and Adrienne Barbeau.

William Devane, who plays Broden, has twice been nominated for an Emmy award: for his portrayals of John F. Kennedy in "The Missiles of October" and John Henry Faulk in "Fear On Trial."

Ralph Waite, playing Henry Stone, is known to millions as the father on "The Waltons," and has recently been seen in "Roots."

Michael Brandon has numerous credits, ranging from "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom" and "Lovers and Other Strangers" to "The Red Badge of Courage."

Adrienne Barbeau, known to television audiences as Maude's daughter, Carol, was a Tony nominee for her work in the Broadway musical, "Grease."

Comedy's the word in new ABC line-up

The execs at ABC are certainly feeling their oats these days. The remains of this past season are still warm and already the No. 1 network (will they ever let us forget) has announced next year's schedule. In the TV industry that's confidence.

Comedy seems to be the key word for the new line-up, as such cop shows as The Streets of San Francisco, Dog and Cat and Most Wanted hit the concrete, along with The Bionic Woman, Blansky's Beauties and The Tony Randall Show.

The six new series set for fall are all comedies, although some are promised to be more adult than others. We can only hope. The following are the plots and casts released by the network.

The San Pedro Bums (8 p.m., Mondays) An hour-long comedy about a gang of five exuberant young men whose dreams and ambitions are always in conflict with reality. Starring are newcomers Christopher Murney, Jeffry Druce, John Mark Robinson, Stuart Pankin and Darryl McCullough.

Soap (9:30 p.m., Tuesdays) An outrageous, character comedy soap opera, serializing the exploits of two unusual families . . . never has there been a TV program like this one.

Carter Country (working title) (9:30 p.m., Thursdays) A half-hour comedy set in a small town in Georgia. A black New York City cop who plays by the book comes to town to work with a seat-of-the-pants chief. Kene Holiday and Victor French star.

The Redd Foxx Show (10 p.m., Thursdays) A topical comedy-variety hour designed to showcase Foxx's unique talents as a stand-up humorist and character comedian.

Operation Petticoat (8:30 p.m., Saturdays) A half-hour comedy based on the Cary Grant-Tony Curtis picture of the same name about an unlikely submarine crew. There's a beleaguered captain, his wheeler-dealer executive officer, and the crew that has just rescued a group of gorgeous nurses. John Astin is the captain.

Love Boat (10 p.m., Saturdays) An hour-long comedy set aboard a luxury cruise ship. Romantic entanglements involve the colorful ship's crew of continuing characters and major guest stars. Gavin MacLeod of Mary Tyler Moore Show fame plays the captain.

Seven programs that were introduced mid-season have also made it to next year. They are Eight Is Enough, Three's Company, Fish, Hardy Boys/Nancy Drew Mysteries, How the West Was Won (which will air in 10 two-hour segments) and What's Happening. The Captain and Tennille and The Brady Bunch Hour will not return regularly. They will appear as specials.

So, there it is. The next move is yours.

NBC's coverage of the 1980 Olympics is more than three years away, yet the network has already been flooded with letters from people wanting to work on the project. So far more than 400 applications for assignment in Russia have been received. Most applicants say they can read, write and speak fluent Russian, and desire such positions as interpreters, announcers, researchers, photographers, doctors, writers and production personnel.

And then there was one letter from a Pennsylvania woman who wanted NBC to purchase a choice piece of property she owns -- not in Moscow, Leningrad or Minsk -- in Pennsylvania.

Anyway, if there are any Russian enthusiasts out there you can send a resume to Robert E. Mulholland, Executive Vice President, Olympics, NBC, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Progressive Country Music in Concert

Austin City Limits features 19 progressive country music acts in its new season of 10 one-hour programs premiering over the Public Broadcasting Service May 16.

Now in its second new season, Austin City Limits programs continue to reflect a vitality and state of mind that critics have called "the most exciting new direction in music." The music is progressive country, a fusion of rock music with American roots or country and western music. The softening of rock combined with contemporary country expression produces a sound that easily bridges generation as well as cultural gaps in its appeal. These fresh interpretations of musical styles as old as America, establish credible new links with the romantic past of Texas and the West, moderating the hillbilly, poor-white-trash image of country music that has long alienated urban listeners.

While there has always been a wealth of music in Texas, it has now flourished as it does now in conjunction with the Austin evolution of contemporary country music, the most popular sound growing out of the city. Although the state has continuously produced outstanding musicians representing virtually every

to other parts of the country to pursue musical careers, thus eroding a rich musical heritage.

The progressive country style digs back into a variety of traditional country music roots while simultaneously moving forward into contemporary musical interpretations. Instrumentation and arrangement are usually simple and direct, yet innovative, and the lyrics are relevant to life styles and attitudes of the 1970's. It's a forthright Texas approach toward realizing the potential of an underdeveloped country and western idiom.

The turn-around in Texas music began in 1972, when singer-composer Willie Nelson gave up on the conservative Nashville country music and accepted the hospitality and appreciation of Austin audiences. Although it can't be said that he actually created the Austin music scene, Willie became the catalyst to give it validity, introducing the area to other "outlaws" (rebels breaking away from the "formula Nashville sound").

Willie, who is featured in the premiere of the new Austin City Limits series, has become a sort of cult hero of the new "outlaw" movement. He shared three Country Music Association awards last year and recently won an American Music award for his recording of "Blue Eyes Cryin' in the Rain." His informality and smile belie the "outlaw" tag and have helped create a state of mind that has established the mood for the growth of a wide range of music in Austin's thriving, yet relaxed, musical environment.

TATUM O'NEAL is seen in her Oscar-winning performance when she co-stars with her father RYAN O'NEAL in PAPER MOON, about a couple of con artists who form an alliance during the Depression. It airs Sunday, May 15 over CBS.

TV Star Scene

Mystery fans take heart. Next season one of your heroes, a true sleuth in every sense of the word, Nero Wolfe, will be the subject of an ABC TV movie, now filming in New York. Wolfe, the corpulent gourmet detective who raises orchids and works with a legman named Archie in Rex Stout's novels, will be played by Thayer David. Also in the cast are Tom Mason, Anne Baxter and Brooke Adams.

You'll get to see if Ron Howard is as good behind the camera as in front when he makes his directorial debut in the feature film, "Grand Theft Auto." It opens nationally this summer... Grant Goodeve and Lauri Walters, who co-star as brother and sister (David and Joannie) on Eight Is Enough, will continue the sibling bit in an episode of the religious series, Insight, entitled "Requiem for Thanksgiving."

Charlie's Angels Kate Jackson, in town with her own poster (a rather straight-forward, sophisticated look), had this to say about it: "I have to be the way I really am. I decided to go for class. If I looked at that on the wall, I'd want to get good grades rather than go to parties. I'm representing myself the way I want to be. At 28, I have to be true to myself." Hear that, kids?

Danny Kaye was at the United Nations to receive the first UNICEF Award for Distinguished Service at the International Level. Kaye has been the organization's Goodwill Ambassador for 24 years... Ben Vereen, the multi-talented performer who came to prominence on Broadway in "Pippin" and recently received raves for his Roots' role of Chicken George, has been signed by ABC for a musical special set for next season.

Johnny Mathis will sing the title song for the 90-minute NBC special, "The Story of Princess Grace... Once Upon a Time Is Now." Lee Grant hosts the show, which will feature Princess Caroline's first TV appearance... The final episode of Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman will have Mary, Louise Lasser, running off with the lawman love of her life, Sgt. Dennis Foley, Bruce Solomon, now co-starring in Lanigan's Rabbi.

David Birney, currently starring in "Testimony of Two Men," says both he and wife Meredith Baxter Birney, of Family, are pleased their careers were not permanently meshed after Bridget Loves Bernie. He says, "God knows we could have gone on like Donny and Marie." Coming up on that PBS Tex-Mex music series, Austin City Limits, are such singing wizards as Willie Nelson, Tracy Nelson, Amazing Rhythm Aces, and The Earl Scruggs Revue... Fred Rogers, the ever-friendly creator and host of PBS's acclaimed children's series,

Tuning In on 'Dog and Cat'

By DAN LEWIS

Take one striking honey blonde Georgia beauty who was a successful New York model and team her with a rough-hewn former actor-turned director on an involuntary comeback and one has Dog and Cat, a recent entry on ABC's prime-time roster on Saturday nights at 10.

Kim Bassinger is a blue-eyed former beauty contest winner in her native Georgia, who drove cross country in a jeep, accompanied only by her two dogs and two cats and wardrobe and, within a year after reaching Hollywood, was picked to costar in a TV series.

Lou Antonio first enjoyed success on Broadway, came to Hollywood 10 years ago and for the first three years kept very busy in guest roles. Then he started directing. For the past three years, he has done nothing but direct in television. Then along came Dog and Cat and he's back to acting and quite happy about it.

"You can't understand the pressures of directing for television," says Antonio, whose professional career after college was as a sportswriter on the Daily Oklahoman in Oklahoma City, his home town.

But the theater bug bit him when he attended a back home production because his brother was performing in it. Antonio decided to reverse his career, started acting in local theaters. Then he headed for New York, where he studied with the revered acting coach, Lee Strasberg.

He won a Theatre World

Award for his first performance in an off-Broadway play called "The Buffalo Skinner."

In addition, he ventured into television, when there still was production in New York, such as Naked City and The Defenders.

In Hollywood, he was in constant demand. He appeared in many series as guest star, including Gunsmoke, The Fugitive, and Mission: Impossible, but almost always as the heavy. While doubling as actor and director, he took a regular role in The Snoop Sisters, an NBC Mystery Movie show, which costarred Helen Hayes and Mildred Natwick. It lasted one season, and it was one of the few times he didn't play a heavy.

"That's why I got out of acting," Antonio explains. "I got tired of playing the bad guy, holding the gun up to nice people every week. Then I found out I had a knack for directing. Then I got bored of directing weekly car chases."

So, he's back to acting. He's a semi-nice guy this time, at least a full-time good guy detective who finds himself partnered with a foxy pretty girl. It's made obvious that he's

NEAT IDEA -- To whom would a person write in order to suggest an idea for a TV serial (or whatever)? Perhaps a vice president at CBS? The lead would be female, and I really think I've got a neat idea to present. Nancy Haas, Fargo, N.D.

First off, you'd be wasting your time to send it directly to a network. It wouldn't be read. I suggest you first register the idea with the Writers Guild to dissuade someone from stealing it. Write: The Writers Guild of America East, 22 West 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10036. Ask them how to go about this. Next, get yourself a reputable agent to represent you and your idea to the networks. A number of them accept ideas, treatments, scripts and such directly through the mail. I got this out of the phone book, and can't guarantee anything, but try CCRLA Literary and Talent Agents, P.O. Box 8064-C, 301 S. Capitol Ave., San Jose, CA. Good luck.

SCREAMS -- In the instrumental section of "Love Rollercoaster" by the Ohio Players, there is a woman-like shrill scream. What is it? D.B., Maas, Ohio

The record was released in the middle of all the hype about snuff pictures (where people were supposedly murdered on screen). It was suggested a woman was attacked on the record, and for a while the rumor persisted until it ran out of steam. Of course, no one was killed. A woman was just screaming for affect, as if riding a rollercoaster, as the scream was originally intended.

SON OF TEX -- Is John Ritter from Three's Company related to Tex Ritter, the cowboy singer? Also, could you tell me if he is married? Nancy Jameson, Somerset, N.Y.

John is the son of Tex, although unlike his father his acting is better than his singing. He's not married at the moment, but says he's living with someone whom he plans to marry soon.

PATTERED -- Are Dick Van Patten, Joyce Van Patten and Vince Van Patten related? I seem to see a family resemblance. J.J.

Haas, Green Brook, N.J.

The family that plays together stays together in the Van Patten clan. Dick and Joyce are brother and sister and Vince is Dick's son.

DREW MYSTERY -- How old is Pamela Sue Martin (Nancy Drew). I heard from a friend that she dates Parker Stevenson and Shaun Cassidy. Is it true? Also, what is the real name of George on the show? A. Tsuji, Aptos, Calif.

The latest of TV's sleuths is 26, a bit older than the character she plays. I haven't heard of her hooking up with either of the Hardy Boys, they just share the same time slot. George is played by Jean Rasey.

***

TWO JOBS -- On Sesame Street there's a guy who always paints numbers on everything. Is he the same person who plays the English neighbor on The Jeffersons? Laurie Lipper, East Brunswick, N.J.

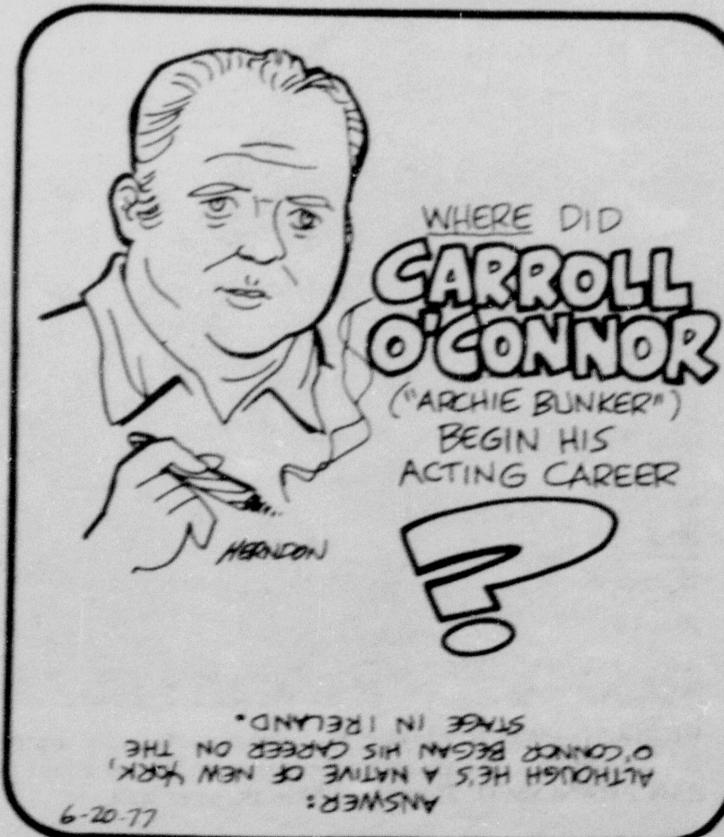

When Paul Benedict is not putting up with George Jefferson on your home screen, he's painting numbers across it. Same guy, a very fine stage actor as well.

DRUNK -- I heard that Robert Redford is an alcoholic. Is this so? Also, how old is he? Marnie Bessaw, Biloxi, Miss.

Redford is not an alcoholic, but he admits to having had a bad period as a young man when he drank heavily. He's said about losing a baseball scholarship at the University of Colorado: "It was the beginning of a three year period when it seemed I was drunk every other day. I don't remember much of 1956." Redford will be 40 in August.

Community invited to participate in tennis tournament

The Georgetown Memorial Weekend Open Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Georgetown High School Tennis Team, is coming up May 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The Tournament is a project to encourage enthusiasm for tennis, to raise money for much needed windscreens on the high school tennis courts and to encourage community participation and involvement, according to GHS Tennis Coach Mike Clardy.

PLAYERS do not have to be outstanding, the coach added. "We are having both junior and adult competition and in the adult bracket players will be divided into championship, 'A' division, novice, 35 and over and open division categories. This way we hope everyone can play," Clardy commented.

Entry fees will be $5 for each singles entry and $10 for each doubles entry and the money and entry blanks must be turned in by Friday, May 20. A check or money order payable to Georgetown High School Tennis Team must accompany each entry. They can be mailed to Mike Clardy, 4140 Sequoia Trail, Georgetown, Texas 78626. Coach Clardy may also be reached at 863-8072 for further information about the tournament.

The best two out of three sets with 9 point tie breaker at 6 all will make up a match.

TROPHIES will be awarded to first and second place winners in each event. Players may only enter two events plus mixed doubles.

Tournament check in time will be 7:45 a.m. on May 27 for Junior singles and 12 noon for Junior doubles. Adult events—championship singles, men's "A" singles and women's singles — will begin at 5 p.m. on May 27. Adult men's and women's doubles will begin May 28 at 10 a.m.

The GHS tennis courts will be tournament headquarters and play will take place on 10 high school courts, four Southwestern University courts and nine other courts located throughout the community.

REGULATIONS for the Georgetown open require that proper tennis clothing be worn and guards placed on metal rackets. Junior players are also prohibited from playing in both Junior and Adult events. Juniors may choose not to play Junior events and enter championship division if they wish. The rules also specify that any division with less than 16 entrants will be cancelled and the money be refunded.

All Georgetown area tennis enthusiasts are invited to participate in the upcoming tournament, whether or not they are champions. "Playing tennis is fun and it's good exercise," Coach Clardy stressed. "We want to emphasize the fun side of play as well as the winning. We would like for everyone to come out to play and enjoy the weekend."

Art Guild plans future activities

"Outstanding" was how members of the Williamson County Art Guild described the first show and sale sponsored by the group.

The Guild met recently to discuss reactions to the show held at Old Settlers' Park in Round Rock, and to make plans for future shows. Guild president, Steve Benton, expressed appreciation to those who helped make the show a success with special thanks to the Old Settlers' Association for the use of the park, to St. Helen's Catholic Church of Georgetown for the use of their public address system and to the Georgetown branch of Austin Savings for copy service and complimentary advertising.

While discussing plans for future shows, the Guild agreed to coordinate the two-day San Gabriel Arts and Crafts Show sponsored annually by the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce. This year's show will be held in October at the Community Center Building in Georgetown. The Guild also set a Last Chance Christmas Show to be held on December 3.

Plans were also made for an art auction with proceeds to be donated to the Wendell Osborn Memorial Fund to benefit the psychology department at Southwestern University. Osborn was a professor in the psychology department and in his spare time enjoyed making pottery. It is expected that several of his original creations will be offered for sale at the auction, as well as many other items.

Liberty Hill NEWS

By Howard N. Wilson

The rejuvenation of our community is immediately obvious to everyone, but the motivating force is not. Much has been said about the good things which are happening here, but perhaps not enough has been said about the people, their desire for an active community and the determination that brought our inspiring rebirth to reality. The people of our great community are jointly responsible for the inspiring new life here, and we just don't have the words to adequately express the pride we take in the fact that our people have the desire and the determination to make our community the bustling place that it now is!

Applications for making a $4 donation to Liberty Hill Volunteer Fire Department and getting an 8x10 portrait in living color in return are available at Hopkins' Auto Parts, Allman's Grocery, U-Pack-It, Ephraim Roddy Hardware, Corner Carry Out and The Flea Market. Applications should be turned in by May 23, so that there will be time to schedule appointments for getting your portrait made at the Liberty Hill Fire Department on Sunday afternoon May 29.

This is the method being used this year by the fire department to raise funds which are so necessary for the efficient operation of the department, and this fine portrait is worth much more than the small price of $4. Please sign up before May 23, — our Fire Department NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT!

The Liberty Hill Fire Department has again printed the pressure sensitive labels with the number of the fire department to be affixed in the cradle of your telephone. This sticker also has a place for the numbers of the ambulance, the Sheriff and the Constable. Labels are available at Allman's Grocery, Williams Arco and The Corner Carry Out. Go by and get one!

Louine Noble, the Principal of the Elementary School of our town, and all of the students are very grateful to The Liberty Hill VFW Post No. 8200 for The Texas Flag which was presented recently — it is flying proudly and appreciatively.

The Elementary School, its students, teachers and staff workers are all grateful to The Liberty Hill Garden Club for all that they have done in helping to beautify our school with the shrubbery and plants which they supplied and planted.

Richard Wear built and donated picnic tables which are welcome additions to the landscape of the school. There are others too numerous to mention who have done much to make our school better. Everyone's efforts are deeply appreciated.

On May 2, Karl Galle, Spencer Berry, Lori Bohanan, Ann Brunner, Vicki Cranford, Vickie Farr, Yvonne Lopez, Kim Marcom, Audra McLeod, Beth Puckett, Tammy Tinner, Cindy Cranford, Melissa Marcom, Christian Merrill and Sam Sikes were all very happy participants in the Young Authors Conference which was held in Georgetown earlier this month. Mrs. Louise Marcom had worked with these boys and girls for almost six weeks while they wrote and illustrated their own books. Mrs. Marcom then bound the books for the students to take to the conference.

The Liberty Hill Panthers showed up for the game at Florence last Friday, May 6, but they left their defensive skills somewhere else as was shown by the fact that there was five Panther errors in key situations to allow the Buffaloes to cop a 13 to 12 win. After seesaw innings during which the lead changed hands several times the Panthers managed to have a four run lead going into the top of the seventh; with the score 12 to 8, two walks, two hits, and the two run error enabled the Buffaloes to tie the game and send it into extra innings. Liberty Hill failed to score in the eighth, but Florence scored the winning run with a walk, a single and an error when there was two outs.

The leading hitter for Liberty Hill was Robert Stephens who went three for four, including a two-run home run in the fourth inning. Eddie Brewster and Donnie Johnson each got two hits and Donnie Johnson was the losing pitcher while Garza got the win for Florence in relief.

Convicted assailant to appeal

Parker's sentence official—99 years

James Ray Parker, who was recently found guilty of severely beating and attempting to rape a Southwestern University coed last fall after breaking into her Georgetown apartment, was officially sentenced Thursday afternoon to 99 years confinement in the Texas state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Parker immediately filed notice with Dist. Judge William S. Lott that he intends to appeal the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, the state's highest court of appeal in criminal cases.

Reliable sources said Parker, a 25-year-old former janitor and cook in Georgetown would probably have to spend at least 12-13 years in the penitentiary before he could even be considered for parole.

LOTT SENTENCED Parker after denying his motion for a new trial on two points of alleged court error. But the judge did agree to appoint an attorney for Parker's defense in the appeals phase of the case and granted Parker 250 days credit on his term for time already served in the Williamson County Jail at Georgetown.

Mike Grimes of Round Rock, Parker's attorney during the trial, sought the new trial for Parker, contending that the court had erred in allowing the testimony of psychiatrist Dr. John Holbrook of Dallas to be presented as evidence before the jury, and that the prosecution should have been forced to prove Parker was not insane at the time of the crime.

Grimes argued that the court allowed Holbrook, over the objection of the defense, to present a professional opinion regarding Parker's sanity which was not based on the legal definition of the term "insanity."

"THIS CONFUSED the issue, and the jury, if nothing else," said Grimes.

He also asserted that Holbrook should not have been allowed to examine Parker on behalf of the prosecution during the trial stage of the case, and complained that he had been improperly denied an opportunity to know what Holbrook would testify.

Grimes also argued that recent decisions of at least

32 supreme courts in other states indicate that once the issue of insanity is raised, the state should be responsible for proving a defendant's shadow "beyond a reasonable doubt," rather than the defense having to prove insanity by a "preponderance of evidence."

Lott, displaying signs of irritation occasionally during Grimes' presentations, then denied the motion.

HE GRANTED the request for a court-appointed attorney after Parker testified that he is unable to pay for one himself.

Lott also agreed to grant Parker credit for the time he has already spent in jail and consented to send the trial testimony of psychiatrists in the case for examination by penitentiary officials.

A Williamson County jury in Lott's 26th state District Court declared Parker guilty on April 21 of crawling through the window of an apartment adjoining his own in a duplex on Hutto Road last Sept. 5, then beating and attempting to rape the SU coed who lived there.

He was first indicted on a charge of attempted rape, which carries a sentence of 2-20 years in prison, but the indictment was later changed to burglary of a habitation to commit a felony, a charge for which a defendant can be sentenced to 99 years to life in prison upon conviction.

DURING TWO DAYS of testimony in the case, which came to trial April 19, Grimes tried to establish that Parker was insane at the time of the crime and therefore could not be held accountable for his acts.

Dist. Atty. Edward Walsh sought life imprisonment for Parker, arguing that he was "an ex-con hiding behind an insanity defense." Parker had previously served time in the state penitentiary for assault with intent to rape.

The jury found Parker legally sane and rendered a guilty verdict, recommending the 99 year prison term as punishment.

Following the official sentencing Thursday, Williamson County Jail.

"At the outset, the program could conceivably force some energy costs to rise. But unless something is done now to hold on to oil and gas reserves, we could well deliver to our children a society brought to its knees by an economic depression that would make the 1930s look like a missed lunch."

times, eluding the other one and going to the car for a can of mace. She then reported spraying the thin one with the tear gas.

Then she said "the fat one" broke a beer bottle on her car and scratched her arms, face and legs. Beck said she grabbed him and hit his head on her car and apparently hurt him as he laid there a while and there was both blood and a dent on the car.

LAWF ENFORCEMENT officers had not apprehended any subjects. They are looking for two subjects on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

• Subject 1. — Latin male 5'10", 160 lbs., slim build, with short curly hair and thin mustache wearing light blue clothes.

• Subject 2. — Latin male, 250 lbs., 25-28 years old with collar length straight hair wearing blue jeans and a plaid shirt.

After the incident, Beck went to Austin but then returned to Georgetown to the police department to report the attempted rape.

Beck called up the Sheriff's office three days later, on Wednesday night about 7 p.m., and talked to Sheriff's dispatcher Randy Neville. She stayed on the phone for about 30 minutes, saying that she was going to "end it all." She kept fading in and out. She said that she had some pills and some whiskey.

NEVILLE tried to talk her out of it, but a spokesman for the Sheriff's department said that she just kept sounding more and more drowsy. Sheriff's deputies were alerted to be on the lookout for her but she had not given a location.

About one half hour after she got off the phone, County Commissioner Wesley Foust spotted a car off the side of the Andice He Road, about three miles south of Andice. He radioed for the Sheriff's department.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Collier responded to the call, and found Beck slumped over the wheel of her car, apparently passed out.

Collier said there was a half empty fifth of Wild Turkey on the front seat and three nearly empty bottles of pills. The pills were amphetamines, barbiturates and antibiotics.

Collier called an ambulance, and Beck was rushed to the Georgetown hospital.

COLLIER said that Beck had apparently talked to the Sheriff's department from a pay phone in Georgetown, then driven to Andice, turned around and headed back.

She had gone off the road and onto a cement culvert, swerved, got onto the road, spun around and slid into the grass on the other side of the road.

Friday evening she was listed in satisfactory condition in Georgetown Hospital.

"THIS TRACK, nobody wants to come out and use it," Greeno said. "Our junior high track now is not a good one, but it has a decent running surface, and you can go down there just about any evening and see joggers on it. But nobody wants to come out and run in the weeds."

Frost, too, emphasized that running is a "lifetime" sport, and an individual sport.

"If you want to go run, you don't have to get a partner, you just go."

The bond issue would not, however, authorize construction of bleachers, restrooms or other facilities with the track. Frost said restrooms and dressing areas were considered, but because present facilities at the high school could be used, those proposals were not presented to the school board.

New Williamson County Livestock Barn MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

It gives me great pleasure, as President of the Williamson County Fair and Livestock Association to announce that we have finally accomplished our goal of obtaining for the youth of this County a fine place to show and display the livestock and poultry that they work on through F.F.A. and 4H Clubs throughout all the school districts in Williamson County. The old barns that have served their purpose for so many years will be torn down within the next forty-five days to prepare the site for the new show barn that will be ready for our show in December of 1977.

The directors of Williamson County Fair and Livestock Association have worked hard this past year in getting this mission accomplished and in contacting many of you for pledges for the next five years toward the goal of obtaining a larger show barn than the $100,000 grant by the County, would build.

They will be calling on many more of you in the county and asking you for your support with donations and pledges so we can make this new facility, that can be used for many activities other than the yearly livestock show, a place that all of our county can be proud of. As President of Williamson County Fair and Livestock Association I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the following people and business for their pledges, confidence and support. Without people like this we would never accomplish the finer things for our community.

Thanks,
